

The book was found

From Silver To Cocaine: Latin American Commodity Chains And The Building Of The World Economy, 1500â€"2000 (American Encounters/Global Interactions)

Synopsis

Demonstrating that globalization is a centuries-old phenomenon, From Silver to Cocaine examines the commodity chains that have connected producers in Latin America with consumers around the world for five hundred years. In clear, accessible essays, historians from Latin America, England, and the United States trace the paths of many of Latin Americaâ ™s most important exports: coffee, bananas, rubber, sugar, tobacco, silver, henequen (fiber), fertilizers, cacao, cocaine, indigo, and cochineal (insects used to make dye). Each contributor follows a specific commodity from its inception, through its development and transport, to its final destination in the hands of consumers. The essays are arranged in chronological order, according to when the production of a particular commodity became significant to Latin Americaâ ™s economy. Someâ "such as silver, sugar, and tobaccoâ "were actively produced and traded in the sixteenth century; othersâ "such as bananas and rubberâ "only at the end of the nineteenth century; and cocaine only in the twentieth.By focusing on changing patterns of production and consumption over time, the contributors reconstruct complex webs of relationships and economic processes, highlighting Latin Americaâ ™s central and interactive place in the world economy. They show how changes in coffee consumption habits, clothing fashions, drug usage, or tire technologies in Europe, Asia, and the Americas reverberate through Latin American commodity chains in profound ways. The social and economic outcomes of the continentâ ™s export experience have been mixed. By analyzing the dynamics of a wide range of commodities over a five-hundred-year period, From Silver to Cocaine highlights this diversity at the same time that it provides a basis for comparison and points to new ways of doing global history. Contributors. Marcelo Bucheli, Horacio Crespo, Zephyr Frank, Paul Gootenberg, Robert Greenhill, Mary Ann Mahony, Carlos Marichal, David McCreery, Rory Miller, Aldo Musacchio, Laura Nater, Ian Read, Mario Samper, Steven Topik, Allen Wells

Book Information

Series: American Encounters/Global Interactions

Paperback: 384 pages

Publisher: Duke University Press Books (July 18, 2006)

Language: English

ISBN-10: 0822337665

ISBN-13: 978-0822337669

Product Dimensions: 6.1 x 1 x 9.2 inches

Shipping Weight: 1.2 pounds (View shipping rates and policies)

Average Customer Review: 4.1 out of 5 stars 2 customer reviews

Best Sellers Rank: #283,530 in Books (See Top 100 in Books) #202 in Books > History >
Americas > Central America #337 in Books > History > Americas > Mexico #823 in Books >
Business & Money > Biography & History > Economic History

Customer Reviews

â œFrom Silver to Cocaine is an ambitious and novel application of the â ^commodity chainâ ™ approach to the insertion of a whole continent into the world economy. It has no rivals.â •â "William" Gervase Clarence-Smith, author of Cocoa and Chocolate, 1765â "1914â œFrom Silver to Cocaine is an important and innovative collection. It provides a corrective to the purely national studies of commodities and of export sectors, and to studies that posit influence in only one direction, focusing on the international penetration of capital and trade into Latin America. This book makes a strong statement about the direction of future research: it should be required reading for anyone interested in the economic history of Latin America, broadly conceived. â • â "Edward Beatty, Kellogg Institute for International Studies, University of Notre Dame⠜[A] very sound economic history of some of the most important Latin American commodities, one that sheds new light on the histories of the producing countries. Anyone wishing to learn about the individual commodities and the impact of this trade on Latin America history will do well to read this great collection. Just as importantly, though, it provides a sound starting point for a comparative, more global history that can explore the integration of Latin America into the world economy in a more complex manner than can be achieved through the aggregation of national economic histories.â • (Alejandra Irigoin Social History)â œAll in all, this is an important volume. The commodity chain approach stimulates economic historians to think beyond national boundaries and contextualizes products within a wider geographical framework. It combines production with consumption, the latter a largely overlooked theme [T]hese case studies illuminate the economic realities of Latin America and beyond in new and interesting ways. a • (Erick D. Langer Journal of Social History) a ceThere is much merit in this book, and indeed, in a commodity-chain approach to the study of the varied primary products emanating from Latin America and the Caribbean. It is well put together by the editors, and the translations of chapters written originally in a different language are of a high standard. It is also timely, as globalization and the rise of Chinese demand are driving many Latin American countries back to concentration on commodity exports.â • (Victor Bulmer-Thomas Business History Review)

[&]quot;"From Silver to Cocaine" is an important and innovative collection. It provides a corrective to the purely national studies of commodities and of export sectors, and to studies that posit influence in only one direction, focusing on the international penetration of capital and trade into Latin America. This book makes a strong statement about the direction of future research: it should be required reading for anyone interested in the economic history of Latin America, broadly conceived."--Edward Beatty, Kellogg Institute for International Studies, University of Notre Dame

A review of the various monopolies in the Americas

If you really need to learn about the Latin American connection to the drug industry of the 1980's try to find a more interesting book. This book will educate you, but it will feel like pulling teeth the whole time. The writing is dull even though the topic is so interesting. Try to find an alternative source than this book.

Download to continue reading...

From Silver to Cocaine: Latin American Commodity Chains and the Building of the World Economy, 1500â "2000 (American Encounters/Global Interactions) Cocaine: Understanding Drugs and Drug Addiction (Treatment to Recovery and Real Accounts of Ex-Addicts / Volume IV â " Cocaine Edition Book 4) The American Colonial State in the Philippines: Global Perspectives (American Encounters/Global Interactions) Global Supply Chains: Evaluating Regions on an EPIC Framework â " Economy, Politics, Infrastructure, and Competence: â œEPICâ • Structure â " Economy, Politics, Infrastructure, and Competence Linked Labor Histories: New England, Colombia, and the Making of a Global Working Class (American Encounters/Global Interactions) Empire of Care: Nursing and Migration in Filipino American History (American Encounters/Global Interactions) Confronting the American Dream: Nicaragua under U.S. Imperial Rule (American Encounters/Global Interactions) Aloha Betrayed: Native Hawaiian Resistance to American Colonialism (American Encounters/Global Interactions) Buying into the Regime: Grapes and Consumption in Cold War Chile and the United States (American Encounters/Global Interactions) Communication and Empire: Media, Markets, and Globalization, 1860â "1930 (American Encounters/Global Interactions) The Dictator's Seduction: Politics and the Popular Imagination in the Era of Trujillo (American Encounters/Global Interactions) The Dictator Next Door: The Good Neighbor Policy and the Trujillo Regime in the Dominican Republic, 1930-1945 (American Encounters/Global Interactions) Tropical Zion: General Trujillo, FDR, and the Jews of SosAºa (American Encounters/Global Interactions) Silence on the Mountain: Stories of Terror, Betrayal, and Forgetting in Guatemala (American Encounters/Global Interactions) From the Revolution to the Maquiladoras: Gender, Labor, and Globalization in Nicaragua (American Encounters/Global Interactions) Borderland on the Isthmus: Race, Culture, and the Struggle for the Canal Zone (American Encounters/Global Interactions) In Search of the: Brazil, the United States, and the Nature of a Region (American Encounters/Global Interactions) Crude Chronicles: Indigenous Politics, Multinational Oil, and Neoliberalism in Ecuador (American Encounters/Global Interactions) The Enduring Legacy: Oil, Culture, and Society in Venezuela (American Encounters/Global Interactions) Paper Cadavers: The Archives of Dictatorship in Guatemala (American Encounters/Global Interactions)

Contact Us

DMCA

Privacy

FAQ & Help