America's Real War

Synopsis

There is a tug of war going on for the future of America. At one end of the rope are those who think America is a secular nation; at the other end are those who believe religion is at the root of our country's foundation. In this audio release of the thought-provoking America's Real War, renowned leader and speaker Rabbi Daniel Lapin encourages America to reembrace the Judeo-Christian values on which our nation was founded and logically demonstrates why those values are crucial to America's strength in the new millennium.

Customer Reviews

Great book to understand and stand for God's principles and unite with those standing for them and know that God's ways are what has made our nation a success. We are doomed to fail if, when and because we as a nation have turned away from the moral principles of God.

I wanted to find a book that documented our (America's) gradual shift to secularism and away from Christianity. I was amazed at how factually accurate and comprehensive this book is! Just as one can read the history of how world events gradually resulted in WW-II, this book very clearly documents America's gradual decline in moral and ethical standing.

This book will enlighten anyone who really wants to know what is going on in the culture war. Many Christians, and the politically uninvolved are blithely unaware of the driving forces behind the rabid secularism that we see now so often, in the media, politics, and schools. The war is not between Jews and Christians, the war is between secularized Jews and other atheists on the one side, and orthodox Jews, conservative Catholics, and evangelical Christians on the other. Rabbi Lapin explains how there has always been those Jews, ever since Sinai, who have rejected the Ten Commandments, and instead chosen to worship the golden calf of money, and refuse to let anything interfere with their sexual freedom. It is these types that make up many of the political action groups that we see trying to "de-Christianize" America, i.e. the ACLU, People for the American Way, Planned Parenthood, and others. I gained tremendous insights from reading this book. I also read "The Fatal Embrace," by Ben Ginsburg, another Jewish author who explains how the Jewish people have repeatedly, throughout history, sought the protection of the state in order to escape persecution from surrounding peoples, but have made some of the same mistakes they are making now, in Rabbi Lapin's opinion. I never knew before reading these authors how much many Jewish people FEAR the rise of Christianity, and think that secularizing America is protection against another Holocaust. Dr. Lapin argues just the opposite; attacking the Christian heritage has a corrosive effect, and his people should stop acting loud, aggressive and antagonistic. No matter where you are coming from on the political spectrum, this book will give you tremendous food for thought. One thing is sure: political views are always informed by one's religious and metaphysical beliefs. It cannot be otherwise.

Rabbi Lapin and Susan are G_D sent in this day of lies and deception.

Great book. Well worth the read.

The left will hate him, the right will love him. And it will be interesting to watch the left attack him for his convictions of conscience (one of our most treasured liberties) which they call freedom of speech. Of course they only apply that liberty to themselves and what they have to say and not to conservatives or the right. Conservatives have no rights or liberties in their world. That is reserved only for themselves and their loyal followers. But in spite of their unequal treatment of American citizens, every American who truly searches for the root causes of our social problems should read and heed the wisdom of this book. Today in America as a direct result of the lefts destruction of our Founding Father's true vision, we live in a country where children are murdering children, mothers are murdering their unborn children, where hate and labels are readily applied by those preaching tolerance to those who do not conform to their ideals of the perfect sheepish citizen. Where anger and prejudice fill the eyes of every special interest group who point their fingers against honest, law abiding, patriotic, religiously oriented citizens. Be tolerant of deviance, give up your constitutional liberties or be outcast and condemned by the mainstream media and elitist movements. We have reached a place in history where those who disagree are no longer political opponents but enemies (Clintonspeak), and where special interest fanatics are dividing our country into smaller and smaller groups of hate filled extremists. Where those embroiled in and most assuredly a part of the most ridiculous scandals have become our heroes and candidates for our most (used to be) respected law making branch of government (Hillary and the Senate). America should pause and give Rabbi Daniel Lapin a fair and open minded reading. He has given us an above ground view of the problem infesting our nation and has put in in crayon for those so wrapped up in themselves that they add new meaning to the saying "professing themselves to be wise, they became fools." Too often people are so egotistically entrenched in their own liberal, tolerant, tunnel visioned, self righteousness that they tend to move right past the simple truth that religion can help solve many of our problems. These truths are right before their noses, but they fear the idea of allowing a divine rule book to guide them because it would take away their preferred self-gratifying individual deviant behavior. They allow themselves to be manipulated into buying a false philosophy simply because of who is selling it. It is always party loyalty, gender loyalty, race loyalty, generational loyalty or some other insane secular reason for turning away from the Spiritual, the Divine or God. They would rather believe that all left wing policies are right, good and honorable. Rabbi Lapin has opened the can and the foul odors of the failed social experimentation practices of the left are easily detectable. The contents are spoiled and are no longer fit for human consumption. His call to finding our way back is a valid one and those who truly love this country should consider his thoughts and recommendations. Evil is the easiest road in the world to walk down. Look as us we have proven it. Walking back up the path and taking the right path will be difficult, but not impossible. Unless of course we ignore the warnings of wise men like Rabbi Lapin. This is a book for the age, for the new decade, century, millennium. Highly recommended.
