Davenport House 2: A New Chapter

Synopsis

The family saga continues in this sequel to Davenport House, resuming where book one leaves off in the spring of 1915. The family and servants must face their fears amid love and jealousy, grief and moving forward, and threat of imminent War with the World. The restructure of an upper class family affects all who live on the Pennsylvania estate. 22-year-old Mary Davenport stays occupied with modernizing the house, but insecurities arise when she develops romantic feelings for the first time. A wealthy socialite persuades one of the ladies to join her on a voyage aboard the exquisite Lusitania. Handsome Ethan is forced to move into the mansion after a fire destroys his home. Tensions rise as Davenport House enters a new chapter with more challenges than anyone is prepared for.

Customer Reviews

Though the subject matter is interesting I have to admit it's been a struggle to stay interested in this book. I honestly forced myself to finish the first book and did because I was curious about where the story would go. I have to say I think the characters are terribly one dimensional and uninteresting. I started reading the second book in hopes that this would change but it really hasn't. Disappointed.

Continuation of Marie Silks Davenport series. Shows how things are easy to overwhelm and confuse while you are now the one everyone turns to in a crisis. After the murder of a father before he could change and write a new will. Finding out it was your mother, brother and a bad doctor that killed him. Plan on reading the rest of the series by Marie to see the outcome.

Mary has a very good heart and looks for the good in everyone. Her mother goes to jail for her part in the murder of her husband but is let out with no evidence of her involvement. This author has a way of keeping you wondering what is going to happen next.

This is a book that is hard to put down. I kept thinking "one more page" and first thing I knew I was half way through the book. I recommend it to anyone who loves exciting books. Thank you Marie.

I love the history part of these books and her writing about the brother is great!

Wish she would write a book about the Davenport House I have read through the 6th book
