Customer Reviews

Nina Laden's illustrations in this simple, rhyming board book are truly magical. The format is straightforward: on alternating two-page spreads, the words "Peek a" are repeated, opposite an illustrated page with a die-cut hole, behind which lurks a cow ("MOO!"), a green ghost ("BOO!"), and a mirror (you guessed it, "YOU!"). The youngest readers will delight in trying to guess who--or what--is peeking through the window, and can easily grip the baby-fist-size holes to turn the pages for the answers. The picture of the "ZOO!" is fabulous. Through the hole, all that can be seen is a wild pattern of colors, stripes, and spots. Turn the page, and find a wild kingdom of animals, one in front of the other: peacock, zebra, penguin, cheetah, elephant, and more. Ready for more peekaboo fun? Try Nina Laden's Ready, Set, Go! . (Baby to preschool) --Emilie Coulter

PreSchool-The exuberant illustrations in this guessing-game board book will enchant infants and toddlers. A bright left-hand page with the words "Peek a" faces a right-hand page with die-cut windows through which a visual clue can be seen. Turn the page and "Peek a MOO!" reveals a black-and-white cow; "Peek a BOO!" a green ghost; "Peek a ZOO!" a crowd of animals including an elephant, giraffe, zebra, etc.; and the final puzzle, "Peek a YOU," has a mirror insert. Vibrant colors with plenty of black outlines make this a charming visual treat for the youngest patrons. Lisa Falk, Los Angeles Public Library Copyright 2000 Reed Business Information, Inc.

I purchased this book after reading all the 5 star reviews and it turned out disappointing. It's a neat concept to say "peek a" on one page then something on the next page. For example "peek a zoo!" However the entire book is repeating this concept. All the "peek a" pages are basically the same page, except for different background color. My 10 month old, who is a big fan of (pretty much any) board books, got bored with this one within a couple of days. I gave 3 stars for the decent printing quality.

My daughter is 9 months old and when I give her the choice between this and ANY other book she always chooses this one. She giggles as I read every page, and it's the cutest little thing. When we get to the last page ("Peek a.... YOU!") she pulls the book up to her face and sometimes kisses herself in the little reflective surface! Such a fun book and so entertaining to see a little person getting so much joy from it!

LOVE this book! It is so simple, yet so fun! I bought this to read to my 5-month-old grandson. He loves it, too :) I made up a little rhyme for the pages before the "reveal". He turns the pages and smiles and laughs the whole time I am reading this cute book. This book is also very sturdy and the perfect size for little hands.

WE LOVE THIS BOOK. My oldest got it as a gift when he was an infant and we have since bought multiples for friends, He is now two and we still read it regularly and he helps now. The dog has chewed it, it's been on multiple trips, the baby used it for teething, it's in rough shape and still in the library because it's a favorite. It's a small board book so it's great to throw in the bag and take with you. It also rhymes so it's fun for kids of varying ages. I HIGHLY suggest this book for young kids!

It was one of my daughter's favorite. Her favorite page is the last one where you can find a mirror. She likes to look at herself, she is 5 now she still likes to look at herself. My son is now 1 and I found this book in the storage. He giggled to every single page where it reveals the puzzle.

Before purchasing, I did quite a bit of research on books for my infant... & I must say, this is absolutely worth it! At 3.5mo, my son loves when I read "Peek-A-Who?" to him! We've even made it part of our daily routine. Vibrant colors, large font, not too busy for younger ones, very nicely bound, and super fun!

This book seemed like simple fun for older children to guess the noise for the picture peekaboo cutout, but my 8 month old really gets a kick out of it. She especially enjoys the mirror at the end where she sees herself. It's more fun to read out loud to her than I thought it would be. There is a different sound you can make on all of the pages almost. Each time it starts with one page "peek a..." and a cutout on the opposite side showing part of an object underneath, so that when the page is turned, the object is revealed with an exclamatory rhyming peekaboo word. Example: Peek a ...BOO! (ghost) -- Peek a... CHOO CHOO! (train on tracks) This is a fun book to play peekaboo without worrying about tearing flaps off (no flaps). I would buy this again and intend to try out the Peek A Zoo edition.

For my just-turned-one year old grandson, who absolutely loves this book; it's his favorite of the three board books I got him for Christmas. A very sturdy book for him to look at on his own.. Very engaging for him, and to read with him. He's at that age of learning and beginning to say words, so this is a great book to start with. His favorite page is the last one, Peek a YOU and he laughs at himself in the big reflective mirrored page. His other favorite page is the Peek a ZOO with all the animals. We point to them and name them. He will open this book himself to these pages in particular. Highly recommend for a great book experience and a nice size for him to hold onto and turn pages himself.
