We just returned from a driving trip through Mexico, Belize and Guatemala. Our GPS did not work well in Guatemala so this map was invaluable! We traveled all parts of Guatemala for two weeks and found the map to be very accurate. It is treated with something that made it water resistant and very sturdy as well.

well made map but it really only gives the main roads.....signage in Guatemala is at a premium on the best of days and the failure to have any "exploded" sections (e.g. Guatemala City) made the map we got from the rental car place for free a far more useful product

I'm really glad that I bought this for my trip; it worked in many places where my phone was too far from signal to be of any use. I loved the waterproofing, too. A lady from Costa Rica also on vacation even asked where I had bought it; she was rather disappointed when I told her!

not 100% accurate, but generally alright. It is difficult to find a map that correctly identifies the more rural infrastructure and communities. One would expect more from nat geo. Maybe they need me to come work for them.

Awesome map, comes just like it does in the description. Beware; not all of Guatemala is on one side of the map. One side has the northern part and one side has the southern part. Maybe that's in the description and I just didn't see, but I thought I got totally jipped the first time I looked at it.

It does what a map is supposed to do. It is fairly sturdy and is usefull enough to get you where you need to go, as long as its on a macro scale. Best to have a gps like product with you to know where you are, the roads there can be tricky. For general use though this will be great, don't leave without it.

I like this map for a few reasons...it is very detailed, it has mileage between cities, it has points of interest marked and it is waterproof.

Quality map of Guatemala. It shouldn't wear out because it has a light protective coating.
